Conflicts of Interest Disclosure June 2022

RBC Capital Markets is the global brand name for the capital markets business of Royal Bank of Canada and its affiliates, including RBC Dominion Securities Inc. in Canada.

At RBC Capital Markets we have established policies and procedures designed to identify, disclose, manage and, where necessary, avoid material conflicts of interest in relation to our firm, our clients and third parties. This includes actual, potential and perceived material conflicts of interest.

In accordance with new Canadian securities laws coming into effect on June 30, 2021, we are providing the following updated Conflicts of Interest Disclosure to you on behalf of RBC Dominion Securities Inc. (“RBCCM”, “us” or “we”). It explains in greater detail, potential material conflicts of interest that may arise as a normal part of doing business with us, how they may affect your interests as our client, and how we intend to address them in your best interest.

We have longstanding processes in place to manage potential material conflicts and we welcome this opportunity to provide you with more information. Please find below some examples of potential material conflicts and how we intend to address them. We will also strive to keep you informed in a timely fashion should we identify any other material conflicts that would adversely affect your interests in the future.

Generally, RBCCM identifies and addresses material conflicts of interest through established policies and procedures, including the Royal Bank of Canada (RBC) Code of Conduct.
